Strange Recurrence of Elaze at Kershaw Property.

The house occupied by Mrs. Kershaw and two other women at 155 Twentyfourth street, was on fire three times yesterday morning, but the blaze was put out each time by the firemen who were watching the embers of the lumber yard fire.

The peculiar thing about the fires was that each was in a different part of the house.

MERCHANTS WIN TEST SUIT. Jury Acquits Raymond on Charge of License Violation

The merchants opposing the license ordinance came out ahead in the test case of William Raymond, charged with doing a business without a license. The jury listened to a statement of facts and of arguments and brought in Judge Maloney for the defense argued that the privilege of doing, business was not a special privilege and therefore required no license. In imposing a license the council in effect imposed a double taxation.

City Attorney Macmillan stated after the acquittal that prosecutions would continue until a conviction was had; the purpose being to make the defense appeal the case.

The gambling place of Albert Labb 28 in the rear of Myers' saloon on Twenty-fourth street has been closed by or- 31 der of the police, and the members of 32 der & the police, and the members of the green cloth fraternity are somewhat disturbed over the matter.

Some months ago the city council passed a resolution instructing the chief of police to enforce the ordinance against gambling to the extent of keeping the gambling places outside of saloons and above the ground floor. The custom has been to allow them to do business, but to fine them once a month.

Labb's place was not above the feat 41
